My dear Professor Tappin,

I was happy when Sam said to know that you are planning to come to London. I shall look forward very much to seeing you. Unfortunately I have a friend living with me here so cannot write you today. But you must certainly come to visit me

I shall make enquiries about a place for you to live with your children.
But it might be best for you to go this through the University or through the British Council, as they are accustomed to making arrangements for lodgings for visiting professors and students, and these are usually the best places to go. The universities here have an organization for this purpose, I believe.

I am getting on very well in the book on Atatürk, and am hoping to be back in Turkey in Spring, to finish off my researches. So I shall hope to see you before you come to England. I look forward to this very much.

Meanwhile my warmest greetings. I have not a good photograph of myself at the moment, but will be happy to send you one as soon as I have one.

Very sincerely
Frederick Kuus
