Professor Dr. Tayyib M. Gökbiçgin
Etiler, Hürriyet Apt. 12
Istanbul, Turkey

Dear Professor Gökbiçgin:

Our department is currently looking for a scholar to fill a position in our Turkish program. The appointee is expected to teach courses in Ottoman and Modern Turkish, as well as Ottoman Literature. We would like to consider as many candidates as might be available. I would therefore appreciate it very much if you could recommend candidates you are personally familiar with; they could be either junior or senior scholars.

In view of the fact that the Manpower Labor Office of the United States Federal Government requires that preference should be given to unemployed and available American citizens, please include in your nominations individuals who belong in this category. Moreover, I would appreciate it if you could also recommend prospective candidates who are women or who belong to minority groups, as well as other qualified candidates.

Thanking you for your assistance,

Sincerely yours,
